County Democrats Due for Shake-Up

Job-Holders Must Deliver Politically or Get the Gate, McCloskey Says

MORLOCK IN COMMAND

Into Montgomery County came this week John Morlock, resident of Philadelphia's Logan, who will henceforth be in the driver's seat when it comes to Democratic patronage hereabouts, a brand-new plan under the tutelage of Matthew J. McCloskey, Jr., who has accepted the large task of bringing the territory adjacent to Philadelphia more in tune with the Democratic voice which now travels through the State at large.

Montgomery is regarded as the toughest of the Eastern counties from a Democratic standpoint, but some prospect of a better division of the votes was gleaned from the recent at the Women's Community Club will make the Legion wing of the Narberth Community Building a miniature museum, next Tuesday. A covered dish luncheon at 12:30 will precede the show.

Clothes lines will hold old quilts, hand-embroidered bed spreads and afghans. A record will be played on the Junior Club's talking book for the blind. Mrs. C. E. Starr of the club will demonstrate a Braille book she is making.

There will be tables of old pattern glass, old china, and old silver. A bride doll and some very old dolls, old shawls, and even a collection of antique buttons. Paintings, needle point, and embroidery made by the members, and a table for the art work done by children of the members. And even husbands will have a table, where their handiwork and collections will be on display. There will be old furniture, including a little rocker dear to its owner through a hundred years of family history.

Mrs. C. A. Farmer and her committee, who are putting on the Hobby Show, will close it with a take-off called "A Bored Meeting," written by applicants for membership in the Women's Community Club of Narberth were voted in by the Board of Directors at the meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. E. W. Heymann, Tuesday morning. And in the afternoon the fifty members of the group on Literature and International Relations heard two splendid reviews of books on social history at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Joseph Gurbarg.

Sixty-six new members since October is now the record of the club, as Mrs. E. B. Hoskins, now membership chairman, and her committee work toward their goal of 100 new members. Total club membership is now 176. Those added Tuesday are: Mrs. T. William Rodgers, Mrs. W. Bernard Madeira, Mrs. Tilghman Derr, Mrs. R. W. Phillips, Mrs. Roger Simard, Mrs. James MacMackin, Mrs. A. E. Hickerson and Mrs. C. F. Beiber.

Mrs. Harry Helson, in reviewing "The Hundred Years" by Philip Guedalla, at the group on Literature and International Relations, felt that four points were important. They are: He makes his characters live, his style is so perfect one feels the atmosphere of darkness or silence he describes, he takes the 100 years from the accession of Victoria to the throne of England in 1837 to the death of King Edward in 1937 and gives a connected, well rounded history of the world in that period; and he employs the new method of picking out fourteen major dates in history and spot-lighting them.

How America is changing in her social customs, her way of spending leisure, and her hopes, and what effect modern times is having on her ideals was brought out by Mrs. Lewis Crater in her review of "A Saga of American Society" by Dixon Weeter.

This Sunday Morning

from 10 to 10:30, C. B. S. will broadcast on its Church of the Air, the Rev. Carl Kopf, pastor of Mt. Vernon Congregational Church, Boston, preaching, and Mrs. Kopf, at the organ. Married in 1928, Mrs. Kopf is the former Miss Mary Chalfont, daughter of the late Rev. Harry Chalfont, of Narberth.

Testimonials to Edwin P. Dold and to the Borough that appreciates and fosters his kind of public official, were given Thursday of last week at a dinner in his honor attended by 78 leading men of Narberth and nearby. The new burgess, Frank A. Schrepfer, was toastmaster. The ex-burgess, Mr. Dold's successor as tax collector for the borough, began the program with the reading of a whimsical summons that Mr. Dold appear at the dinner and stay through it, no matter what was said about him. Talks were given, impromptu, by many who testified Mr. Dold has been a good tax collector, good fellow, good politician, good business man, and a good friend. Speakers included Henry A. Frye, Robert Fellows Wood, Clarence Kaebler, William H. Fretz, Dr. LeRoy A. King, W. P. Miesen, Ralph S. Dunne, John H. Jeffries, John J. Gabrey, Robert C. Collins and William H. Durbin.

Also Carl B. Metzger, third Legion Award winner, who presented a gold watch on behalf of the diners—and Mr. Dold himself, emotion-stirred.

Said Mr. Frye, ex-burgess: "It is a healthy, fine, encouraging thing that this community has the sentiment and opportunity to express the feeling that animates us... we appreciate those who serve us."

Dr. King, Narberth School Board President and second recipient of the American Legion Award, said men like Dold make possible Narberth's high rank... in education... low percentage of delinquents... all streets paved... playground and library... good share of outstanding students in Lower Merion High School... fine type of (Council) men who spend tax money, as well as men who collect it.

John J. Gabrey, first recipient of the American Legion Award as Narberth's most distinguished citizen: "Narberth is the kind of place where men thrive in the true American environment—in the tradition that one's talent and wealth must not be administered for one's own welfare alone." He praised the kind of men whom Narberth's discerning citizens can draft for the administration of public affairs—such as Messrs. Wood, Kaebler, Schrepfer, Flier, Hall and Dold, to name but a few. He showed how, in issues such as opposing a merger with the township, and in voting for Sunday baseball but against Sunday movies, the public manifests its interest in local government—an interest, as shown by the percentage of registered voters who exercise their franchise, that is higher than that of any other community in Eastern Pennsylvania.

The banquet, held at the Arcadia Restaurant, was arranged by Clarence Kaebler, dean of Borough Council.

"Auf Wiedersehen"

wished farewell last week at a testimonial dinner, resigned early this month as tax collector, causing former Burgess John R. Hall to become his successor, and newly elected Councilman Frank A. Schrepfer to become his successor as Burgess, and Richard L. Miller to become his, as Councilman.

Mr. Dold, as was pointed out at last week's dinner, came to Narberth 30 years ago, a young married man; joined the Narberth Fire Company when horses drew the wagons; won a prize from the Civic Association for his garden; served on the tennis club; was chairman of dances "that were dances;" was a trustee and contributor of the Narbrook Park development; served as a captain of the Home Guard during the World War

"Three Cornered Moon"

Gertrude Tankoway's famous comedy, will be given by the Narberth Players in their Elm Hall, Friday and Saturday, February 4 and 5. This three-act play was one of the bright spots of the 1932-33 theatrical season on Broadway. Since then it has been revived several times and used a great deal in the summer theaters and, of course, had sufficient merit to find its way on the screen via the Hollywood route.

The Narberth Players cast under the direction of Marjorie Topliss Flynn includes Faith Farmer as Mrs. Rimplogar and William Farmer, Philip Reger, William Hand and Betty Lynch as the Rimplogar youngsters. Francis Mitchel is Dr. Stevens, the friend of the family; George McAlister is Donald, the young author; and last, but not least, Nancy Simpson does a fine bit as Jenny, the maid.

The story of the Rimplogars who exchanged witticisms with the depression is one not to be missed for a good evening's fun.

A New Philosophy

to replace American Youth's Depression-bred philosophy of futility, is needed to counteract the growing drug habit, which has caused the United States to lead Occident and Orient in the use of dope and narcotics. So declared Dr. Arno Vilhoever, Research Professor of Biology in the Gross Laboratory of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy and Science, Tuesday at the luncheon meeting of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

Independent of any organized anti-narcotics campaign, Dr. Vilhoever came by request of Rotarian Alvin E. Shull, whose son, Kenneth, is a Senior at the college, and editor-in-chief of its publication, The Scope. After studying in Munich, Dr. Vilhoever became head of the Laboratory of Pharmacognosy, Bureau of Chemistry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, 1913-23; is a frequent contributor to scientific literature, member of the publication committee, American Journal of Pharmacy and is famous for his method of evaluating drugs using Daphnia, small transparent crustacean, as a test animal—which he demonstrated for the Rotarians.

Girl Scouts

received Golden Eaglet award, for exceptional achievements

Jane Smedley, of Narberth Troop 8, and Mary Ruth McCracken, of Ardmore Troop 265, were the two Girl Scouts in the Main Line District 8 of the Philadelphia Girl Scouts who received the Golden Eaglet award for 1937, according to a report made by Mrs. Philip F. Murray, program chairman, at the meeting of the Main Line District last week. Olive Bates, of Narberth, received the award last year.

Mrs. Henry D. Booth, Jr., chairman of the Main Line Committee, entertained the following members of the nominating committee of District 8 for luncheon Wednesday at her home in St. Davids: Mrs. Guy Cornman, of Ardmore, chairman; Mrs. Philip F. Murray, of Merion, and Mrs. John Twaddell, of Haverford. Plans were made for the coming year.

(having served in the Army during the Spanish-American War); became a Councilman in 1912, and has held public office ever since, including as borough treasurer and, for the past 12 years, as tax collector.

He leaves, with Mrs. Dold, to join their daughter and two grandchildren, in California, where he has a new business connection.

Jutland's Battle,

biggest naval engagement of the World War, was thrillingly narrated Monday night to the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, in Narberth's Community Building. The speaker, introduced by former commander Frank A. Schrepfer, who lost his arm and part of his sight fighting the Germans, was John S. Vogel, of Bala, an American citizen who during Jutland commanded a turret on the German cruiser Prince Rupert Leopold.

Captain Vogel said during the actual fighting, which lasted one hour, his turret shot 51 shells which cost about $25,000. Whether any hit their mark, he never knew nor cared to find out, though he won the Iron Cross for his part in the battle.

"The Law's

the Law," said Burgess Frank A. Schrepfer, fining all offenders.

Holding his first police court Wednesday night of last week, at the Borough Hall, Narberth's new burgess served notice on all traffic law-breakers that if the police find their case a violation of the borough ordinances, there will be no "fixing."

Two people who parked in a no-parking zone on Narberth's side of Montgomery pike at the pike, Old Gulph road, were served notices to appear. One did, and was charged $2. One had a legal representative try to adjust matters—and was fined $5 plus $1 cost. Net "fix"—minus $4.

All-night parkers were assessed a dollar apiece.

What started the burgess off on his fining campaign was an item in the Narberth paper's "Sn-h-n" column January 14, showing that of 926 parking violations in the borough for 1937, only $326 in fines were collected; and that most of the offenses were for all-night parking (494) and for parking (172) in the no-parking zone that was established near the pike to keep convivial young people in town and township from staying up too late together.

Residents and visitors alike are hereby given notice that cars parked more than the one-hour limit in daytime in the Narberth business section, and cars that ignore "Stop" signs in crossing through streets, and all-night parkers—are facing a new regime in Narberth—kindly, but firmly law-upholding.

Last week's hearing was Wednesday, to avoid conflict with the testimonial dinner given Narberth's retiring tax collector, Edwin P. Dold. Witnessing the new burgess in action were John R. Hall, former burgess, now tax collector; newly elected Magistrate Roy I. Gowland, who will conduct hearings Thursday evenings in February; and Horace Smedley, Narberth's other new squire, who will carry on in March.

After 23 Years.

Montgomery School, in Penn Valley, one of the Main Line's leading day schools, will close its doors at term's end, June 1, according to announcement made by Morton Gibbons-Neff, chairman of the trustees. The boys' school has been running in debt in recent years, with an enrollment of slightly over a hundred, while two hundred is required to keep it up to the financial standards of past years. Hope is still held that alumni and boys' parents will rally around.

Let Contract for $500,000 Apartment House for Narberth--114 Families

Nine months from now, 114 modern apartments are expected to be ready, at Narberth and Price avenues, Narberth—the borough's biggest building project since Narberth Hall, which was built eight years ago for 60 families at a cost of $250,000. The new building, by the same contractor, Nelson-Pedley, Inc., P. R. R. Broad Street Station Building, will cost $500,000. Real estate agent for it, as for Narberth Hall, is Robert J. Nash.

The site is at present occupied by Mr. Nash and is the Alexander Shand

Business Council Doubles Members As Banquet Begins Year of Progress

Quicksilver

CHARLES EUGENE CLAGHORN, president of the Narberth Business Council, introduced Eugene Claghorn, of Narberth, president at their third annual meeting last week. Miss Elizabeth Burt, also of Narberth, was elected vice-president. E. Bruce Byall, of Penn Valley, was selected chairman of the Editorial Board, and George W. Mager, of Orefield, chairman of the Publishing Board.

The Quicksilver Associates are a group of young people interested in writing, art, and publishing. They have published two books and are working on a third. The first two books, i. e., "An Adventure in Print" and "Hand-Press Papers" are available at the Narberth Library.

reports trend to more serious reading. School girls train. "If there is any one trend in the use of the Narberth Community Library during 1937, it is the increased interest in serious reading, and in the library as a source of information and education." So said Miss Clara Fellette, librarian, in her annual report just released.

The non-fiction circulation for the year was 27 per cent, or one per cent over the previous year, which itself was an increase. Total circulation in the adult department was 9,633, non-fiction, and 24,155 fiction. Juvenile, 2,309 non-fiction, and 5,731 fiction, and 2,468 easy reading and picture books.

World Events

will be the Narberth Parents' Teachers Association topic next Monday evening, of Mr. Thomas C. Shaffer, well-known lecturer, in the Narberth School auditorium.

Good news is being broadcast by the Finance and Budget Committee of the Association, for the chairman, Mrs. H. F. Darnes, and her capable aides will again repeat the delicious dinner they gave last year to raise funds. On Thursday, February 17, there will be a Saur Krout Supper in the Narberth School cafeteria, served from 5:30 until 7:30; for sixty cents you will be given sauer kraut, roast pork and mashed potatoes, and as a fine finish home-made apple pie. For those who do not care for the kraut, there will be baked beans instead. Don't forget the date, February 17! Come and bring the whole family.

PUBLICITY CHAIRMAN.

The Women's Guild

of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will hold the February meeting next Thursday from ten until three at the church.

Mrs. C. H. Nold, with members of her circle, will be the hostesses. Luncheon will be served at 12:30. At the meeting following, Miss Helen M. Crawford, a graduate of Tennent College and now a faculty member, will be the speaker. Music is in charge of Mrs. Charles Wilmot.

"Little America,"

Admiral Byrd's picture of polar flights and plights and penguins and things, will be shown 7:45 P. M. next Friday, the fourth, at the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church in Narberth, along with interesting short subjects. The public is invited.

That the Narberth Business Council has gained 44 new members in one month, was revealed by Ralph S. Dunne, president, at the annual banquet Monday night in the Arcadia Restaurant. Previous membership was 41. It is expected well in excess of a hundred will be members shortly, with listings in a Narberth directory, being prepared by Mr. Dunne and J. B. Mackenzie, Narbrook Park, of the Fox and Mackenzie advertising agency. The directory, which will give information about the town of value to all residents, will be distributed to all homes between City Line and Ardmore, and to new residents.

Other plans outlined by Mr. Dunne include special meetings for groups of business people to consider such problems as window displays; an interesting general meeting February 28; extension of Yuletide decorations in the business center; starting December 1, a playroom for children while parents shop; and a children's Christmas party.

Treasurer Joseph J. Whiteside announced that after paying last year's expenses of $410.98, including making up a deficit from the previous year, 1938 is begun with a $20.46 balance, unexpected and unprecedented in recent times.

The banquet, attended by sixty people, was the most successful in the business group's history. Door prizes were given, there was piano and vocal music, Miss Evelyn Dutton, of Wynwood, won applause with an amusing impersonation; retiring president Roy Gowland was presented a fitted leather weekend case by Secretary Tom Elwood; hard-working ex-president Morris Chios received a three noteworthy speakers.

Anthony H. Guting, founder of the Market Street Business Men's Association and former national head of 95,000 club members, drew from his rich experience as a leading shoe merchant to advise the small-town business men and women to give the type of service and merchandise their customers want, and emphasize the intimate friendly service that is best kept firemen busy last week as Seminary and stamps were saved.

Third floor and roof of the 80-year-old Rectory Building at St. Charles Borromeo, Merion, caught fire from defective wires, Thursday at dinner. Benefiting from experience gained in fighting fire of similar origin in another dormitory of the seminary December 15, over 200 students, well disciplined, abated the fire in the 12 minutes before there arrived Narberth, Ardmore, Bala-Cynwyd, Bryn Mawr and two Philadelphia fire companies.

Thousands watched the blaze, which lasted from 6:50 to 10 P. M. Construction valuation of the endangered wing is $200,000. Damage, partly from tons of water, is estimated at $30,000.

That morning, Narberth's firemen saved a stamp collection valued at thousands of dollars, at the home of Edwin T. Wolf, duPont explosives expert, 212 Elm terrace. Mrs. Wolf and her daughter, Kay, aided Mr. Wolf's 82-year-old mother from the house, and sent in an alarm from a neighbor's when fire damaged wiring prevented them from using their own phone. Damage was estimated at as high as $2000. Flames apparently started in the cellar.

James Gillespie's head was deeply cut when a brass ring flew from the hose he was coupling.

"Peter—The Rock,"

a celebrated religious drama, will be presented at the Lutheran Church in Narberth—Narberth and Woodbine avenues—7:45 P. M. this Sunday. Sponsored by the Senior Choir, the play is from the repertoire of a group who last Sunday gave "The Rich Young Ruler" at the Blockley Baptist Church. Director and player of small parts is Karl Emerson Williams, of the West Philadelphia Y. M. C. A., who is well known for his radio broadcasts from Pittsburgh. With him is Elwin Marshall, who created the role of Peter and has played it for years; Alice Stasinski as Mary Magdalene; Anna Uhler as Peter's wife's mother; and others in their repertory group, who have won favorable comment for their reverent and convincing portrayals.

given in a small community. And, he added, "don't think you can get far as individuals in today's political scheme of things. It is only as groups, working in unison, that the little business men can make their voice heard, these days of government regulation and big-business competition."

Second speech was on the State's new 44-hour law, awaiting Court confirmation in the face of numerous appeals. That it is being administered as flexibly as possible, in order to help the smaller businesses, was the contention of William L. Boylan, of the Bureau of Inspection, State Department of Labor, Harrisburg. He said he will gladly answer any questions written him, and answered many at the conclusion of his talk.

Crowning address was a brilliant impromptu talk by Burgess Frank A. Schrepper. He amplified on a remark of Mr. Geutings—that the assemblage of business people compared favorably with those to be seen anywhere in the United States—by saying that Narberth's business leaders are the real pulse of America. "You deal with the underprivileged and are their friends and, where necessary, their kindly creditors. And you cater to the privileged class of the Main Line. You will preserve your harmony, your kinship and yet, above all, never consider yourselves a wedge driven between the classes. You are an amalgam, cementing all the classes together—an irresistible force that is the essence of America. Residents of Narberth and nearby need you for their very daily existence, and you fill their wants. Our town's public officials, too, serve their wants, and yours. And all of us, the public, the business people and the officials, are united in a community character that is distinctive among all the suburbs, and that you, by meetings such as this, can preserve for our mutual happiness."

President Dunne, speaking in conclusion, recommended the reorganized Our Town as a medium for advertising, and commended its progress toward wider community service.

"The borderline is narrow," he said, "between stimulants and stupefiers. . . ." He told how researches lead to wiser medicinal use of drugs, and named among the habit-formers, alcohol, coffee, nicotine and various opiates. "We need substitutes for these, and hope some day to have them," he said.

As for marihuana, sensationally publicized recently, Dr. Villhoever said its use by "have-nots" in this country cannot be halted by cutting off the source, because it is too easily grown, such as in Philadelphia weed-covered lots. It is nothing but hashish, he said, which comes from Arabia by way of Mexico, seeking whom it may destroy.

To prevent underprivileged and mentally ill people from gaining vain dream world unrealities, and doped sickness, degradation and despair, he said what America needs is to educate young people . . . that those who believe there are no worlds left to conquer, may gain a sense of continued adventure through modern explorations of the mind and spirit . . . in unselfish service . . . in gaining the contentment that comes from ease of mind, the joy that comes from healthy and righteous living.

An attempt to assure completion of the new Bala-Cynwyd Junior High School in time for the opening of the fall term, was made by the L. M. Board of Education last week when provision was made to assess liquidated damages against all contractors who do not complete their work within the specified time.

The Board plans to install a new heating system connected with the central plant which will heat the new Junior High School and the old Academy building.

Amount of damages will be determined by the board's solicitor and the architects for the work. Bids for the work, together with the proposals for the construction of the new school will be opened February 10.

lections, when the Republican majorities were of lesser dimensions, and it is evident that the astute McCloskey is aware that the "Committee of 13" arrangement, with its too many "weak sisters" must be relegated for a more practical basis of operation.

This means, according to what is learned in Norristown, that every present office-holder must demonstrate his capacity for political fray or make room for another who can better deliver the vote and it is expected that numerous heads will drop in the basket before many weeks have passed.

Also comes the news that Chairman Frank A. Bradley and Secretary Joseph F. McElwee continue to be in excellent standing, but it is claimed that their efforts for a more productive organization were blocked by member of the committee who had little political discernment and who helped to load up the lists with men and women who could not provide anything except their individual votes.

In the meantime, many dependable war-horses, workers to whom practical politics is second nature, were left altogether in the cold, a case in point being Joseph T. Magarity, of Narberth, regarded as the Borough's most active Democrat, but who has not been able to get to first base despite the hundreds of votes he carries in his hat.

Whether Magarity is to get close to the throne in the new set-up is not known, but he has what is said to be needed and a sizable job is likely to come his way.

"Chen or go" will be the keynote of Morlock's procedure, under a format devised by McCloskey for observance in five counties, and it is said no other consideration will enter the picture, as it is claimed, no Democratic progress can be made in Montgomery unless every Federal and State officeholder stands for a certain minimum number of votes, which is bound to mean exit for a good slice of the present line-up.

Dettre New Treasurer

of County Republicans

County Treasurer R. Ronald Dettre, of Norristown, was appointed treasurer of the Montgomery County Republican Committee Tuesday by the G. O. P. Executive Committee.

He succeeds the late Charles V. Noel, of Narberth, who dropped dead recently while fighting a fire. Mr. Dettre is chairman of the Norristown Republican Committee.

Shorty Was Short

of Funds, so he Short-Changed Louis Evangelos of Narberth's United Shoe Repair Shop, so Louis fired him, awhile ago. Shorty, dolefully besought employment and found it, shoe-shining (his vocation) for Louis' competitor, B. G. Constantine of the Goodwear Shoe Repair, Haverford near Narberth avenue. A couple of weeks later, Mr. Constantine, his son and his wife had reason to suspect that Shorty was short-changing them (his avocation).

Came Monday of last week. Mr. Constantine, downstairs tending his furnace, heard the cash register ring, came up and found just Shorty, almost red-handed, denying the ring, denying anything. Home went Mr. Constantine for lunch, locking the cash register. Down the hill from home (they live at Haverford and Grayling) went Mr. Constantine's son and wife to catch Shorty, register unlocked, his black wrists very much red-handed. The son went for Sergeant Girvin and the mother stayed in the shop with Shorty, behind a locked door (locked by the son as a precaution).

When they unlocked the door Shorty had fled, through a rear window, too high for Mrs. Constantine to follow.

Narberth shoe shining is done by Shorty no longer.

Albert H. Nulty, 345 Meeting House lane, curator of the Barnes Foundation, Merion, was taken to Bryn Mawr Hospital this week, a pneumonia case. As OUR TOWN went to press he and his father-in-law, Joseph D. Maguire, 300 Grayling, who suffered a stroke last week, were in serious condition, but with hopes held for their recovery.

Mad, Merry Comedy Plays at Egyptian This Week-End

"Beg, Borrow or Steal" which is playing at the Egyptian Friday and Saturday, is one of the laugh hits of the season. Starring in this mad and merry comedy are John Beal, Florence Rice, of "Double Wedding" fame and Frank Morgan.

Kenny Baker, radio's most popular singer is co-starred with Pat Paterson in "52nd Street" which is playing Monday and Tuesday.

"Al Baba Goes to Town" starring Eddie Cantor plays next Wednesday and Thursday, including Thursday matinee, February 2-3.

"Non-Stop New York" and March of Time at Suburban: Jackie Coming

"Non-Stop New York," the illustrious aviation story, is at the Suburban, in Ardmore, until next Wednesday, along with the new "March of Time."

Jackie Cooper is coming in a new characterization to add to his notable gallery of hits. The film is personally recommended by Manager D. Tittleman.

Jackie plays his first grown-up role in "Boy of the Streets" which comes Wednesday to the Suburban Theatre, and appears as a tough kid from the gutter who becomes a real man when the breaks go against him. Maureen O'Connor, a 14-year-old singing bird, Kathleen Burke, Marjorie Main, Gordon Elliott, Matty Fain and Robert Emmett O'Connor appear in support of the youngster.

Auditions for Choral

Will be Held Monday

The Bala-Cynwyd Choral, which may be said to have affixed the names of Merion, Narberth, Penn Valley and other local communities during the past few seasons, is still open for new members for their spring production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Yeomen of the Guard."

The chorus is literally open—no auditions being required. For those aspiring to take leading parts, closed auditions, i. e., without an audience, will be held at the close of the next rehearsal, Monday evening, at the

Bala-Cynwyd Woman's Club. Those trying out will be asked to sing a selection from any Gilbert and Sullivan Operetta and a selection from "Yeomen of the Guard."

Just about 1,300 miles, Annie!

Annie, the maid, answered the telephone. "Yes'm," her mistress heard her say. "Yes'm," said the maid for the second time. Then she added, "It sure is, Miss," and hung up.

"What did they want, Annie?" her mistress asked curiously.

"Well," said the maid, "the operator girl asked if this is the Jones' house, so I said, 'yes'm' so then she asked if Mrs. Jones is home an' I said, 'yes'm' so then she said, 'Long Distance from Miami,' an' I said, 'It sure is, Miss.'"

But Annie was forgetting that Long Distance spans the miles in seconds—makes most distant points seem near.

The reduced rates on Long Distance calls effective every night after seven and all day Sunday make it easy for you to visit distant friends frequently at little cost. The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

THE FIRESIDE

Newcomers on the Main Line, well known in both Montgomery and Delaware Counties, are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Chandler Turner, Jr., of Bronxville, N. Y., who are now occupying the former home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Eppensheimer Hall, on Zollinger way and Heath road, Merion. Leslie Howard in Comedy at Narberth: "Lost Horizon" is Next Show

"It's Love I'm After," a Warner Bros. comedy-drama co-starring Leslie Howard and Bette Davis, and featuring Olivia DeHavilland, Patric Knowles, Eric Blore and others, opens today at the Narberth Theatre.

Howard is shown as a stage star about whom all the town's young girls are ga-ga—and Bette is his leading woman. They love each other, but each is a scene-stealer, and they battle continuously in whispers while audiences hear them reciting beautiful lines aloud.

Young Miss DeHavilland is a sentimental heiress who falls wildly in love with Howard—and the story concerns itself with how he, Bette, Knowles, Blore and others succeed in disillusioning her and sending her back to the embraces of Knowles, who is her fiancé. Spring Byington, Bonita Granville, George Barbier, Georgia Caine, E. E. Clive and Valerie Berge contribute to the general hilarity of one of the funniest comedies ever shown here. Nowhere is there a dull moment or weak spot.

Long awaited, following its "road show" career, "Lost Horizon" comes to Narberth next Monday and Tuesday. It stars Ronald Colman in the picturization of the best-selling novel—a story that the Narberth Theatre is proud to present to its discriminating suburban audiences.

More than two years in the making and one of the most costly pictures ever to come out of Hollywood, "Lost Horizon" is Robert Riskin's screen adaptation of James Hilton's best-selling novel of the same name. In translating the Hilton novel to the screen Mr. Riskin and Frank Capra—the men responsible for such memorable successes as "Mr. Deeds" and "It Happened One Night," have recaptured all of the breath-taking adventure, the high romance and the awesome beauty that contributed so much to the widespread appeal of the original story.

Featured members of the huge cast supporting Colman in "Lost Horizon" include Jane Wyatt, Edward Everett Horton, Isabel Jewell, Thomas Mitchell, Marco, H. B. Warner, John Howard and Sam Jaffe.

Bert Lahr, Alice Brady, Barbara Read and John King make a laugh-fest of "Merry-Go-Round of 1938," next Wednesday.

The rest of next week, Irene Dunne and Cary Grant will amuse in "The Awful Truth."

The Bryan Trophy

was given at a dinner by the Frankford Arsenal last week, to A. Donald Amesbury, assistant cashier of the National Bank of Narberth. It is a cup awarded for the highest score of the year in all the club's rifle matches. Mr. Amesbury is a member of the Lower Merion Rod and Gun Club.

Oh—for Gas House Heat!

No wonder Suburbanites Sam and Sally Snapson are continually snarling! Their heating system won't do an even job. They have tropical heat one day—a teeth-chattering chill the next. Too bad! But there's an easy solution. It's gas house heat—always even, automatically controlled as you want it.

Costs Less Than You Think!

Let us make a survey and estimate the cost for you. Choice of Janitrol, Welsbach or Bryant Conversion Burners as low as $195 cash, installed. Slightly higher on budget plan—3 years to pay. Also get the facts on our convenient monthly budget plan for operating cost of a heater... and our low combination gas rate!

L. M.'s Defeat

night, headlines the news of the week. That game makes news for several reasons—first because Norristown had not defeated Lower Merion in basketball for many, many years if my memory is good; and also for the simple reason that the Blue Eagles had not shown so much class and fight in any of their previous games this year. Few people expected Coach Earl's basketballers to be able to silence completely the riles of Bill Anderson's first string players.

It was a most disappointing night from the start of the second team game right through to the final whistle of the main affair. Coach Gen Reeves' reserves failed to win their game due to their inability to cash in on their multitude of shots. They missed enough easy baskets to win a dozen games. From a purely psychological viewpoint this was bad for Bill Anderson's boys. It was the first time the second team had been defeated and it must have given the Norristown clan the idea that it was their night. The first team took command of the situation right from the start and outfought and outplayed Coach Bill's boys throughout the game. The final score of 22 to 16 shows just about the right edge held by the visitors during the entire game.

The squad have had a week's rest from competition now and they will benefit from it. They play Upper Darby at Ardmore tonight and should win if they have recovered.

Last week was a tough one for all the Lower Merion teams. Junior High was nosed out for the first time this season, in the final two minutes of play, by Bayard Junior High of Wilmington, 41 to 37. The same team that was defeated twice by the Leopards last year returned this season as a veteran team with plenty of power and finesse.

The Junior High met Phoenixville Friday afternoon at the local place of business and soundly trounced them in a league game, 40 to 20. The Leopards now lead the league with a record of four victories and no defeats.

An innovation might be tried by Villanova as an addition to their Hollywood baskets which, when penetrated by a lucky basketball, turn on the colored lights and ring a bell. Why not have the device ring once for a foul shot and twice for a field goal? If possible to arrange it, connect a loud speaker and announce the name of the boy who scored the shot and then strike up "Auld Lang Syne." I'm not really trying to be funny. I just can't figure out why some things were brought into this world.

TOMMY MACKLIN.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" Plays at Egyptian Saturday Matinee

The Main Line Junior Cinema Alliance is again presenting another of its programs designed especially for children. This Saturday, the feature is "Little Lord Fauntleroy," starring Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney.

The added attraction on the stage is Mickey McCarthy, brother of Charlie McCarthy. Performances are at 10:30 A. M. and 2:15 P. M., and are held at the Egyptian Theatre, Bala Cynwyd.

The Mulieres

of the Narberth Fire Company have postponed their covered dish luncheon and card party to be given in Elm Hall from February 21 until Wednesday, February 23. This is the one large affair which the Mulieres will give during the season so all the residents of the borough and vicinity are urged to attend. Tickets may be procured from the committee in charge, Mrs. J. Ben Taylor, chairman; Mrs. Charles E. Harnden, Mrs. John E. Wetzel and Mrs. Albert H. Nulty.

Despite Stormy Weather

last Friday the tea given for Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood by the former Volunteer Staff at the home of Mrs. William Bailly Goodall, Dudley avenue, was highly successful. The 40-some guests included trustees, staff and past and present librarians. The Volunteer Staff presented Mrs. Wood with a fine edition of the Oxford Unabridged Dictionary in two volumes, with her name inscribed. She also received many letters and telegrams from her friends from out of town.

Narberth Bridge Club

Friday afternoon, January 21, top score, Mrs. C. J. Goodyear and Mrs. Allen Shubert; second place, Mrs. Arthur Cooney and Mrs. Frank McEnamery.

Monday evening, top, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Shubert; second place, Mrs. C. J. Goodyear and Miss Anna V. Foley.

Card Party

will be given by the Book Club of the Narberth Junior Women's Club, in the Scout room of the Community Building, 8:15 P. M., next Thursday, the third. There will be refreshments and prizes. The Juniors only hold about two of these evening card parties a year, and could have more, because they are so popular with the men! Mrs. Ellsworth Clarke, Literature Chairman, and her committee are in charge; and will do all they can to help you have a good time, so bring your own crowd and join the fun!

The Book Club this year has over forty members. Of course you must be a member of the Junior Women's Club, but the purchase of a current book is the only "dues." Some grand books are included in the list this year. Among them "Woodcote's Second Reader," "Seven Who Fleed," by Prokosh; "And so Victoria," by Wilkins; "One Hundred Years," by Guedalla; "Northwest Passage," by Roberts; "Of All Places," the Abbe children's tale of Hollywood; "Madame Curie's biography by her daughter Eve," "The Long View," by Morris; "Midnight on the Desert," by Priestly; "The Citadel," by Cronin; "Ferment," by McIntyre; "Pepita," by Sackville-West; "The Turning Wheels," by Cloete; "Katrina," Salomus; "So Great a Man," by Pilgrim; "People in Cages," Ashton; "Let Your Mind Alone," by Thurber, as well as "How to Win Friends and Influence People," by Dale Carnegie (to get both sides of the story). The list also includes a book written by the father-in-law of one of the members "Thrilling Triumphs of Crime Detection," by Barton. So you see, although this month only a few of the books, the range is both wide and varied.

After hearing Mrs. F. N. Floyd's "Review of American Literature" at the last meeting of the Book Club the members are having interesting discussions on which books and authors will "live." Which are the measure of our life today, or which the result of our restless age, and only the "froth." This discussion of a book among a group who have all read the same book, getting each individual's reaction, is the primary purpose, as well as joy, of a literature group.

Business Bits

Several changes on Narberth avenue. . . Chester P. Cook, who has for many years operated his Narberth Bridge Garage, has leased it to the Gowland Brothers, who are making changes. . . Niedelman Brothers have a paperhanging, etc., shop across the street from it, and next door to them is Dan Tumolo, who took over Kirscht's barber shop last fall. . . The Narberth Hand Laundry is attracting many new customers these days, with its cheerful prompt service. . .

Hobson and Company is transforming the interior decorating shop on Narberth avenue into one of the smartest on the Main Line, with a fine line of upholstery fabrics and wall paper samples for inspection.

The spring apparel club is now forming at Jim Stanton's Narberth Men's Shop on Narberth avenue. The club will be conducted in the same manner as his popular Christmas Club, with benefits weekly commencing Monday, February 7.

Notice the ads this week of Ted Hance (Plymouth), Henderson's Appliances (hot water), Heating Service Co. (Bendix), Mrs. Norman Jefferies (summer's coming), Narberth Coal, Shull Lumber, Whiteside's, etc?

Mrs. Olive C. Woodworth, 301 Windsor avenue, is giving free instructions in knitting, needlepoint, hooked rugs, etc., in connection with her business. Formerly of Narberth, she maintained, until recently, a shop in Bryn Mawr for ten years.

Also advertised this week as free, are the playing cards that Joe Maguire is lending for bridge parties, as publicity for his service station on Forest avenue. Nice looking cards, for bridge, pinochle, poker and 16-handed solitaire.

Total circulation, 44,296. (Children's circulation showed a net gain of $50 books.)

Total books in the library, 10,917 including 563 books added by purchase and 184 by gift, but figuring on 266 volumes lost and discarded. Periodicals received by gift and subscription total 75. Number of books deposited in the Narberth School, 613.

There are 564 adult members registered, and 185 juvenile. Receipts from rentals and fines were $1110.99, and in gifts, $50.21.

The library was open 298 days, for an average daily circulation of 149. This was the same as in 1936, due to the fact that the library was closed for eight days in December. Other excerpts from the report follow:

"The school lending plan has had other benefits to the library aside from the increased number of books made more available to the boys and girls of Narberth.

"The definite requests of teachers for material served to point out weaknesses and gaps in the children's collection, some of which were remedied in the purchases of new books for Book Week.

"It has brought the teachers and the library in closer touch. Two classes of Fourth and Fifth grade pupils visited the library during Book Week and were given instruction by the librarian. This instruction included how to join the public library, the responsibility of the borrower for the care of public library books, the reasons for library rules, and an elementary explanation of the arrangement of books on the shelves and the use of the catalog in finding books. An invitation was given to all the children present to become borrowers of the library if they had not already done so. The two grades were now almost 100 per cent registered borrowers. There were also new parents who became borrowers as a result of the library work.

"Separate records of the use of the library during the year have been kept since April 5, have been kept for purposes of comparison. The greatest use of the library during mornings has been by the housewives, and by the children on Saturdays, and in the summer months. In the 220 mornings that the library was open 2512 borrowers visited the library and 2712 books were checked out.

"Three school girls, Virginia De Hart, Eleanor Haywood, and Ruth Woolmington, were given individual training in the work of the library. The course lasted from April 5 to June. Following an examination, the three were accepted as volunteer pages. They have been giving an hour a week to the library in order to keep in practice. Miss De Hart and Miss Woolmington, by obtaining vacation employment certificates, were able to take care of most of the part-time substituting during the summer months.

"A scheme of co-operation between the Library Club of the Narberth Public School and the Community Library in trying out other pupils who show a liking for library work was planned, but could not be put into practice because of a number of emergencies preventing a convenient time.

"Registration in the Travel Club reached 103. 36 certificates were awarded and about nine persons qualified for honorable mention.

"Mrs. Ernest Drew has given an hour a week to the task of catalog revision. This has been chiefly the marking of the Cutter-Sanborn numbers on the cards for individual biographies, but her work has also involved some revision and the substitution of typewritten cards for the hand written ones of the library's earliest days."

Edith Elliott Clark

January 10, there came to an untimely end the life of a brilliant young artist and talented musician, Miss Edith Elliott Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin C. Young, 303 Woodside avenue, Narberth, following an operation at Hahnemann Hospital. Her passing is deeply mourned by all for to know Edith was to love and honor her.

Court Dismisses Suit by L. M. Residents

A taxpayers' suit, brought by residents of Penn Valley seeking to prevent the construction of an incinerator by Lower Merion Township in West Manayunk, has been dismissed by the Montgomery County Court.

The decision was handed down by Judge Harold G. Knight, President of the County Courts.

The Court allowed the petition until February 1 to file exceptions to the decision which upheld the township on practically every point.

The suit was filed in October by Aaron D. Swartz, representing Percival M. Roberts, Guy Croyle, C. Brool Jones, Township Commissioner in the West Manayunk district; Robert J. Nash, H. W. Madara, Russel Elia, Emma J. Priestley, Germaine L. Levy, and Sarah L. Bussinger.

The incinerator is to be located near Mary Watersford road and Jefferson street, on a 30-acre tract, part of which is now utilized as a township dump.

Ultimate plans of the Board of Commissioners call for the elimination of the dump and the conversion of the tract into a park.

Mr. and Mrs. Gideon Boerke, of Deepdene, entertained at dinner at the Acorn Club Wednesday before the Simfonieta Concert.

A proposed budget of more than a million dollars, which includes an increase of nearly $50,000 for police protection, was received by Lower Merion Commissioners last week.

Despite the budget increase, which amounts to $50,550.26 more than last year, the board adopted an ordinance fixing the tax rate at eight mills, the same rate which has been in effect for the past five years.

A $1500 increase is made for fire protection, all of which will go to the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore for its Gladwyne Branch, scheduled to be in operation soon.

The increase for the police is to cover the addition of more men to the force and for the $120 yearly pay increase granted to those who qualify as Class "C" patrolmen under the new plan announced early this month.

The sum of $46,285 is appropriated for parks, playgrounds, and recreation, $20,000 of which is earmarked for the development of playfields now owned by the township, approximately $13,000 is set aside for the balance due on the contract for grading the South Ardmore playfield with the balance available for equipment. The total for recreation is a decrease of about $17,000 as compared with last year, when the board made some heavy expenditures for playfield site.

Reappointment of four township officials was announced as follows: Marvin E. Reynolds, Jr., superintendent of construction in the highway department; Samuel W. Gearhart, superintendent of police; Grant M. Olewiler, superintendent of sanitary drainage; and Captain Edward Rabin, superintendent of building inspection. Thomas Shallenross, Jr., of Merion, was reappointed to the Lower Merion Board of Aldermen for a further term of three years.
